Petition Asks Board For Further Hearing

Monday night the Moraga School Board will be petitioned for another hearing on the hiring of a full-time superintendent in the Moraga School District.

Last week the board named William Knight, principal of Vallecito School in Lafayette, to a newly created post of district superintendent at $11,000 a year.

According to Mrs. Marie Wright, president of the Rheem School Parents Club, the petition asks for the hearing because the consensus of the petition signers is the district is not large enough to warrant a full-time superintendent.

SHE TOLD the Sun reporter about 300 of the approximately 500 Moraga School District homeowners had signed the petition.

She said some petitioners wonder what the reasons were for initiating the superintendent job so hastily.

"If the board can verify the

'Gas War' Flares Again; Prices Drop Three Cents

The "gas war" which seemed to be over last week has managed to flare up again.

Prices in the area jumped to 29.9 cents for regular two weeks ago following an ultimatum by Standard Oil Company to its dealers in the Bay Area.

Prices at major stations had dipped to as low as 21.9 at many major stations. Others were selling the regular at 22.9.

Independent stations dropped their prices to as low as 19.9 during the three-month "war."

LESS THAN a week after the prices jumped to 29.9, some ma-

Radio Tower Permit Still In Offing

When the district attorney's office draws up an ordinance to control the construction of transmitting towers, the board of supervisors will rule on the proposed radio transmitting tower in Orinda.

Present ordinances do not cover the case which involves Patrick Henry of Orinda and his proposed radio tower.

County Planning Director Thomas Heaton explained the law must be put on the books before it can be acted upon.

This may take a month or more.

HENRY is owner and manager of radio station KJAZ in Berkeley. He received approval for the tower last month from the county board of adjustment.

He wants to erect the tower on Lucille Way north of Knickerbocker Lane.

The Oak Spring Improvement Association appealed the decision to the board of supervisors.

In turn, it was referred to the planning commission, which recommended the permit be denied.

Free Class Ads for Teens Again Offered by Sun

School will be out soon, and there are lots of teen-agers who are still not quite sure what they are going to do for employment this summer.

Many youngsters have lined up steady jobs to hold them through the summer months. Others will take advantage of state and local facilities in order to try and find a job.

But still others have not yet found the answer.

So, once again, The Sun is offering free work wanted classified advertisements from teen-agers as part of a continuing program begun several years ago.

ANY TEEN-AGER is eligible. All you have to do is come into a Sun office at 1320 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, or 1001 Oak Hill Road, Lafayette, and place your ad after Wednesday.

Ads must be placed in person by teen-agers by Friday at 3 p.m. in order to appear the following week in The Sun Shopping News, Lafayette Sun, Orinda Sun, Pleasant Hill Sun and Walnut Creek Sun.

Each ad will run for two weeks.

ONLY ONE SERIES of ads will be accepted from any youngsters and ads cannot be changed during their insertion time. The ads must contain the youngster's name and telephone number as well as the kind of work which he or she is seeking.

Many youngsters in the past have found full summer employment through this program offered by The Sun, and many have continued the ads on their own initiative to keep the work rolling in.

Professionals Will Survey Orinda Parking Problem

A decision was made Tuesday by the Parking Committee of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce to use part of the Parking Authority funds for the purpose of hiring professionals to make a survey of conditions in Orinda and present their recommendations for solving the parking problem.

The committee met at the Casa Orinda with members of the Parking Authority in attendance. Mark Kermit, county traffic engineer, was present at the meeting. The committee asked Kermit to recommend three firms qualified to make the survey.

Those attending the meeting were Tom Horton, chairman; Clarence Betz, who was appointed secretary; John Ogden, Bill Worden, M. Dolio, Uwart Phair, Merle Brown and Ken Courtright, chamber president.

Dubendorf, Switzerland, Is This Boy's Destination

Bill Miller, a junior at Acalanes High School, leaves Thursday for Dubendorf, Switzerland. Bill, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller of 3583 Boyer Circle, is one of 800 American students selected by the American Field Service program to live abroad this summer.

The boys and girls who will fly to Montreal June 8 and from there board a special ship to Rotterdam, have been carefully screened by the AFS officials. Bill, for example, after his original application to the local AFS committee, went through a screening process, interviews, submitted a 200-word essay, and then more interviews.

WHAT KIND of boy or girl makes the grade? There are many factors. Grades, personality, character, interest, adaptability and many more, not necessarily in order named.

Bill happens to be an only child, son of an attorney. He has been described by his friends as an "outdoor sports fan." During his freshman year at Acalanes he participated in cross country track.

While in his sophomore year, Bill was a member of the ski club, AFS, California Scholarship Federation, track team and cross country. He was also recognized by teachers as a better than average student, and by his classmates as the kind of friend it's good to have around.

BILL HAS studied German for two years, but with sensible apprehension he is concerned about the language problem. "After all," he said, "how would you or anyone in a different country feel if, after two years of classroom study, you were suddenly going to be using this language exclusively?"

Dubendorf is located five miles east of Zurich. Bill will be living with the John Kuderli family. There are two Kuderli boys, one 19 and one 18. Youth appears to have an international language all its own, and it's a safe bet that Bill and Kuderli youngsters will not find language a problem.

Mutual interests in sports, mountaineering and hiking should ease the adjustment problem. Bill realizes he must adjust to the Swiss family's way of life, just as he must also be giving an example of the American way of life.

"I KNOW that I will be asked many questions," Bill remarked. "The experience of other AFS students leads me to believe that it will be next to an inquisition. The people will want to know first hand how Americans feel about Cuba, Laos, the Freedom Riders, and even our president is a big question mark to many Europeans."

Official Approval Given Bus Plan At PUC Meet

Representatives of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce attended a formal hearing before the Public Utilities Commission in San Francisco Tuesday.

Official approval was given to the Vashell bus turn-off plan, confirming the approval granted at an informal hearing several weeks ago.

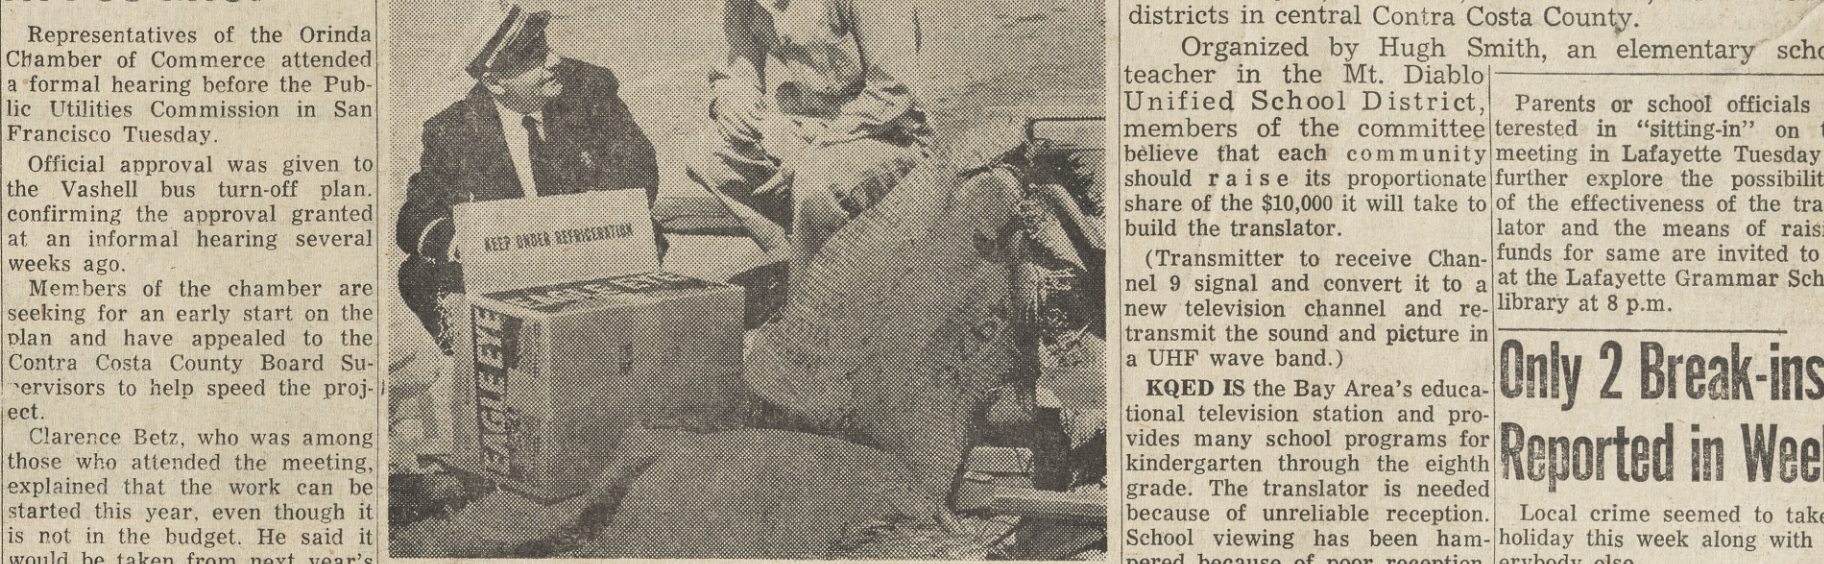

Members of the chamber are seeking for an early start on the plan and have appealed to the Contra Costa County Board Supervisors to help speed the project.

Clarence Betz, who was among those who attended the meeting, explained that the work can be started this year, even though it is not in the budget. He said it would be taken from next year's budget.

Since the budget (state) will not be approved until fall, the Orinda group is making every effort to have the work begin prior to this.

Construction of the bus turn-off between the on and off ramp of the freeway will keep the buses out of the crossroads area and considerably relieve the traffic problem, according to chamber officials.

Those who attended the meeting are Merle Brown, Ken Courtright and Clarence Betz.

PREVENTION of fire is easier, less costly, and far safer than fire fighting. Fire Marshal Bill Koch, left, recommends both business and home owners keep their premises free of rubbish at all times. This collection was found piled against a wall of an Orinda business establishment. Pictured with Koch is Engineer Paul Lucas.

Rotarians See Film

Chief Alan Winsor of the Orinda Fire Department was guest speaker before the Orinda Rotary Club on Wednesday at the Casa Orinda.

Winsor narrated the films taken at the 1960 Fire-O-Rama held in Antioch during April. All county fire departments and several industries participated in the annual event.

Ned de LaVeaga, president, presided and Clarence Betz was program chairman. Betz announced that a Demotion Party for the outgoing president will be held June 25 at his home, 12 Sunrise Hill.

A western theme is planned for the event. Don Bradley, Rotary past president, will be in charge of arrangements.

"We have a unique geographical setting for our schools, and we believe that with present methods several of our schools could not receive adequately, even with the translator."

"SHOULD NEW information be presented we might reverse our recommendation of non-participation. There are also other considerations. We have our own foreign language program and we are working on a new science program."

"If we tied in to the educational television programs, they might be as good or better than ours, on the other hand they might not," he concluded.

Participating stores are identified by the large, yellow window poster with a contest theme. No purchases are necessary for voting, and no limit is placed on number of ballots deposited.

First prize in the contest is a free eight-day vacation in Hawaii on the chamber-sponsored "Hawaiian Holiday" departing in August.

Seven runnerup prizes of merchandise orders will be presented to the highest candidate from each of the eight participating high schools in Central Contra Costa County.

Presentation of awards and announcement of standings will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Main Street parking lot of the Walnut Creek Bank of America branch.

Citizens Work to Bring Educational TV to Area

A steering committee was organized last week to promote public subscription to underwrite the cost of a translator atop Mt. Diablo which would provide television service from KQED, Channel 9, San Francisco, to seven school districts in central Contra Costa County.

Organized by Hugh Smith, an elementary school teacher in the Mt. Diablo Unified School District, members of the committee believe that each community should raise its proportionate share of the $10,000 it will take to build the translator.

(Transmitter to receive Channel 9 signal and convert it to a new television channel and retransmit the sound and picture in a UHF wave band.)

KQED IS the Bay Area's educational television station and provides many school programs for kindergarten through the eighth grade. The translator is needed because of unreliable reception. School viewing has been hampered because of poor reception.

KQED has agreed to build and service the transmitter for 15,000 students for $15,000. There would be no other costs involved. Pledges to date have reduced this figure to $10,000.

A meeting is scheduled for Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the library of the Lafayette School to determine methods of raising $1,475, Lafayette's share of the cost of the translator.

THE MONEY, according to Mrs. Chris Adams, interim chairman of the Lafayette group, must be raised by July 5. "I need both ideas and help," Mrs. Adams said. "I urge all Lafayette residents, both parents and those who wish to benefit at home from the services provided by the educational channel to attend the meeting Tuesday."

No action is underway in Orinda at the present time. School district officials earlier this year recommended that Orinda delay any action concerning bringing educational television to the district. Glenn McNicholas, curriculum director, said the recommendation was based on the fact that Orinda had no insurance of good reception, even with the translator.

"We have a unique geographical setting for our schools, and we believe that with present methods several of our schools could not receive adequately, even with the translator."

"SHOULD NEW information be presented we might reverse our recommendation of non-participation. There are also other considerations. We have our own foreign language program and we are working on a new science program."

"If we tied in to the educational television programs, they might be as good or better than ours, on the other hand they might not," he concluded.

Only 2 Break-ins Reported in Week

Local crime seemed to take a holiday this week along with everybody else.

Only two minor burglaries were reported to the Lafayette sub-station of the county sheriff's office. The refreshment stand at the San Ramon Valley Little League ball park in Danville was broken into last weekend.

A door on the stand was forced to gain entry. An alarm clock and some malt containers were taken by the responsible persons.

An old ranchhouse in Orinda that is used for parties was burglarized last week, also.

The persons took 52 bottles of whiskey, according to caretaker Paul Byers.

He told deputies that there had been several burglaries in the area recently.

A front window was broken to gain entrance to the house.

The building is located on Edgewood Road. It is owned by Arthur Beckett of Orinda.

F. Ashton Smith of 109 Las Vegas, Orinda, told deputies that someone stripped his car of its battery, generator, carburetor, distributor and radio one night last week.

Great Weather We're Having!

MEMORIAL DAY & Our Town as silent as a cemetery, half-deserted by the Brave Ones who battled the Fight of the Freeways . . . The Stay-At-Homes w/a priority on pleasure sitting on their patios, lighting their charcoal fires, freezing in their pools & suffering cinders in their hotdogs.

We're a long way, our generation, from the old Decoration Day celebrations when the flags flew high & the spirits did, too, & Life was not so complicated.

THE DAY started w/a cannon salute from the nearby park & small neighborhood parades passing in militant review before the Big One got under way, uptown, downtown, any old town.

THERE was always a picnic basket full of fried chicken, potato salad, applesauce cake, thermoses of steaming coffee & iced lemonade & if you weren't going the long, hot drive to the seashore (no fast freeways, then) you stayed home in your own backyard & took your turn at the crank of the old ice cream freezer. (You can't hardly get that kind no more!)

There was the family ceremony of hanging out the American flag & shame on anyone who didn't have it up the flagpole by the first fresh hour of the day! The kids clamored through the thick crowds to watch the veterans parade & covered the curbstones or stood on soapboxes waving little red, white & blue banners from the five & ten.

THEN CAME the headlines & the blackouts & the holidays we spent in Orinda at the old Orinda Park Pool came to an end for there was gas rationing . . . & it was just too hard to go anywhere or it didn't seem right to when there was so much to be done, so much going on Over There.

SO MEMORIAL DAY, 1961 & w/the traffic teeming, the joints jammed, the radio reports of a record holiday toll, some of us felt safer staying right here on the Home Front, deciding to visit the cemetery & pay tribute to our soldier another more peaceful day.

WE ADULTS played a game, "Remember When" (the children were fascinated & wanted explanation) & found that some of the symbols of Our Time were gone but not forgotten when the old bean was given a nudge by the power of suggestion.

For Instance . . . Remember the graveyard shift, shipyard workers, the silvery helmets & Rosey, the Riveter?

Into the Wild Blue Yonder

There were Victory Gardens & meat rationing w/little books of meat stamps & the old German butcher (wearing his long white apron & his button-down cap) in his sawdust-floor store pushing the hearts, liver & lights or the Mutton Chops & telling you how to cook them.

YOU WROTE V-MAIL letters to The Boys . . . & the Girls They Left Behind were busy rolling bandages, serving donuts at the U.S.O. or acting as hostesses at the Hospitality House dances or driving a Red Cross wagon.

THERE WAS V for Victory, the sign of the times, & the songs of the day like God Bless America, Praise The Lord & Pass The Ammunition & Don't Sit Under The Apple Tree With Anyone Else But Me! The remindful sign everywhere—"Is this trip REALLY necessary?"

Off we go into the wild blue yonder . . . Remember being "bumped" from the plane & patiently waiting your turn on the priority list at the airport?

There was Sad Sack, Bill Mauldin's Up Front characters, Ernie Pyle's newswritings avidly read . . . & copies of Stars & Stripes & "Yank" that civilians were eager to pour over.

At first there were just a few uniforms & then more & suddenly anyone NOT in green, blue of khaki was a curiosity . . . a 4-F or a Conscientious Objector.

THERE WERE the battle ribbons, the theater ribbons, the clusters, crosses & Purple Hearts worn by the Gold Braid & the G.I. Joes . . . & their counterparts, the WAVES, SPARs & lady Marines (they called them BAMS) were trim & neat in uniforms & shorn of the long Hollywood hairdo of the day & sporting regulation oxford shoes of small battleships (or so it seemed).

THERE WERE WAR BOND TOURS, Victory Bond tours, rallies & pep talks at plants where good work the reward was an "E" for Efficiency pin . . . A blackout blanketed the coast & at night the view from the window was just so much ominous dark sky, the suddenness of stars sometimes frightening—enemy planes?

By day, the windows were bright w/squares of service star stickers & Gold Star Mothers sat in their chairs & watched searchingly the faces of the men passing in the army truck convoys that rumbled & roared down the street.

TIRES WERE HARD to come by, but it didn't matter much because you couldn't go far on the gas coupons anyhow . . . When your nylons wore down to a nub, you found lisle hose were just as satisfactory & much warmer at nights.

You weren't fussy about food because you couldn't afford to be w/a limit on the food points & you stood in line a mile long for your w/ky supply of coffee, sugar & butter . . . & what you could get, if any, of meat. Mother studied meatless menus in cookbooks issued by the government & took pride when a dish was especially good.

MOST OF ALL, you stood proud & tall & straight as a ramrod when they played the Star Spangled Banner & you weren't shy or self-conscious about singing out & ringing out resoundingly w/the martial music.

You held your hand over your heart while you spoke the pledge of allegiance & just the sound of the words set your heart beating faster. It takes hardships & struggle to appreciate things more. Perhaps a revival of patriotism is just around that Main Street corner.

OBSERVATION: The most attractive street on Memorial Day was one w/a count of eight flags flying—out of a total 15 houses . . . but there were places where for blocks & miles, not a single Old Glory.

NOW FOR NAMES . . . Harold (Ole) Ohleyer w/a case of, scotch? no, canned milk, held high on his shoulder, explained it this way—"Three cats!"

Orinda is getting to be quite famous, more so now w/Vicki vying for Miss Universe (Vicki McCosker, dgtr. of the John McCoskers, that is). Making a big splash in swim records at the recent Diablo Invitational were Aquabears Peggy Hart & Peter Schnugg . . . The Owen Peaces of Chas. Hill Rd. who just returned from a rhododendron convention had rhododendrons coming out of their ears they saw so many, so to prove it, they took their pictures thataway—w/the famous flowers actually coming out of their ears! The convention was in Portland from whence they traveled up to Vancouver, B. C., etc.

NEW NAME ON THE MAILBOX is that of Charles & Betty Angell, who recently moved here from San Carlos . . . His country cousin is Barbara Wayne who, if you go back a para., is the dgtr. of the rhododendron-loving Peaces.

LIKE teenage girls react to Fabian or Elvis when seeing them in person, well, that's how excited our bird-loving Barbara Bedayne got when suddenly spotting a Western Tanager—handsome bird, which accd. to Barbara, must just be "passing through" . . . Its usual habitat is Yosemite.

She describes the glorious fine-feathered fellow as having a brilliant yellow body, black wings & a red breast & head. By the way, the local bird-watching ladies will take their "finals" under Lucie Hupp's apple trees next Monday & here's hoping they all get an A for Audubon.

Pomona to Graduate Phyllis Dail

Among the candidates for the committee and dormitory board, bachelor of arts degree at Pomona College in Claremont is Phyllis Dail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Dail of Orinda.

Miss Dail is a 1957 graduate of Acalanes High School where she was active in drama and a newspaper staff member.

At Pomona she majored in English literature and was active in drama productions, the elections

In the Classroom . . .

I.V.: Viking Ventures

At I.V. School something new is going on. Optional assemblies are held about once a month during noon hours. Students have a choice of attending them or going outside.

The first of these sessions was a panel discussion on school segregation. One member from each room was on the panel. Each person took a different point of view on segregation.

ONE PANELIST's view was that of a southern Negro. Another view was that of a southern white. The other three sides discussed were: The view of a northern white, the constitutional aspects of segregation and, finally, the problem created by segregation throughout the world.

The second assembly was a panel discussion on popularity and so was the third. Different opinions on how to gain and keep friends were discussed. Mr. Mahler led the panel.

The fourth and fifth assemblies concerned communism and had no panelists. Mr. Gaskell, our principal, played tapes that told about brainwashing.

These assemblies (we'd like to call them Viking Ventures) have proven to be quite popular and if they continue to be so will become a traditional activity each year. Reported by Susan Van Sicken, student reporter.

Our sports program at I.V. is outstanding. It provides wonderful chances not only to better oneself as an athlete, but also to become a good sport. I am sure that under the capable direction of our instructors, Miss Gee and Mr. Little, all of us achieve these two athletic feats.

The girls, with Miss Gee's able assistance, have an after school program which was given the very fitting name of Girls' Athletic Association (known to all the girls as the GAA).

Every Wednesday the girls in GAA stay after school to participate in their chosen sport. Our officers are: President, Leslie Roberts; vice president, Valerie Smith; secretary, Nancy Hart, and treasurer, Donna Easterly.

JUST RECENTLY we had a pancake breakfast for anyone who was interested in coming. The money was used for the I.V. sport blocks. Anyone in GAA who achieves a certain amount of points receives a block.

Glorietta: Bird Species

Mrs. Raffi Bedayn, Orinda resident and a parent of a second-grader and fifth-grader at our school, came to Glorietta last Wednesday morning to talk to us about birds.

She talked to grades first through third at an assembly in the auditorium. She told us about three kinds, the acorn woodpecker, the bushtit and the gold finch. The acorn woodpecker has a funny kind of nest. Mrs. Bedayn told us that they drill a hole in an old tree. Then they put their eggs in.

May 11, Glorietta School had some visitors from Costa Rica. They were the grandparents of Richard Dowling, fourth-grader; John Dowling, third-grader, and Bruce Dowling, first-grader.

THEIR NAMES are Mr. and Mrs. Gerardo Steinworth. They speak a little English, but mostly Spanish. The boys' aunt, Mrs. Agnes Echandi, also came to visit from New York.

They all visited in the three classrooms. They were in Miss Edlund's fourth grade during the Spanish lesson and listened to Mrs. Esther Johnson, district Spanish consultant, conducting the class. We played Spanish games and talked in Spanish. We had lots of fun.

The Steinworths, Mrs. Echandi and Mrs. Dowling were also guests in Mrs. Nicolaysen's first grade and Miss Lach's third grade. The children in the third grade at Glorietta School have written aerograms to some Chinese children in Hong Kong. Mike Rieger, in Mrs. Cutler's class, was the lucky boy to receive the first letter back from his pen pal.

HERE, IN PART, is Irving Ko's letter:

"Dear Mike,
I am nine years old and I was born in Hong Kong. My father, mother and sister all live in Hong Kong; but my mother goes to Macao once a week.

I have just joined the Boy Scouts. Have you also joined the Boy Scouts?

In my geography class I learn about America and the Panama Canal. Have you been to Panama?

This is a typhoon season in Hong Kong. A typhoon today stops us from going to school. Sometimes a big typhoon blows down houses, big trees, boats and cars. Have you seen a typhoon?

Please write soon.
Your pen friend, Irving Ko.

College Ahead

Ten years ago the mother of two growing children, seeking the means to insure her children's college education, was employed by the Acalanes High School District as a cafeteria helper to wash pots and pans and prepare school lunches.

Next month that woman is resigning as District cafeteria supervisor to enroll as a full-time college student at the same time her son graduates from the same college.

For the past seven years, Mrs. Mildred deLaneux has been cafeteria supervisor, and for several years has been attending Diablo Valley College as a part-time student completing her lower division requirements for college entrance.

IN JUNE she will enroll at San Francisco State College to major in home economics and earn a high school teaching credential in the field in which she has become an expert.

"This seems like a dream come true for me," she grinned, "For years I've had the hope that some day I, too, could go to college, and now it has become possible."

While attending college she will work in the college cafeteria assisting the manager in the operation of the student food service. She will follow the same curriculum as students who have just graduated from high school, except for those courses which her 10 years' experience would make unnecessary.

IN THESE courses she will be permitted to receive credit by examination.

Looking back over her tenure with the high school district, she recalled that when she started there was but one school and one cafeteria in the district.

Because of construction activities at Acalanes High School, she had to carry water in a pail across open fields to make coffee, pots, pans and dishes she carried home to wash in her own kitchen.

Now, with four cafeterias in operation, she supervises 25 cooks, managers and helpers.

RESPONSIBLE for ordering supplies, planning menus, testing recipes and administering the food service, she oversees the preparation and serving of more than 1500 hot lunches and another 1500 snack lunches during the 35-minute student lunch hour.

The annual budget for this operation will be $175,000 for the current school year.

Mrs. deLaneux said, "I'm not sure just what I'll do when I finish college."

"They tell me a teaching job may be hard for a person my age to get, but I'm not worrying about that right now. First I have to graduate and get my credentials."

Mrs. Rose Magnesi, manager of the Acalanes High School cafeteria, has been appointed to the position of district supervisor to replace Mrs. deLaneux.

MRS. MILDRED deLaneux, at right, is off to college, and her replacements as Acalanes District cafeteria supervisor is Mrs. Rose Magnesi, shown sampling a recipe.

Wodehouse Talks Fun In Your Suburbia

Now that he's 80, says famous humorist P. G. Wodehouse (creator of Jeeves and about a hundred other books), he's got to slow his fun down a bit. His idea of a good time, which includes walking two miles to the post office with his cat every day, leads off the June issue of Suburbia Today, which will drop out of the June 9 edition of your Sun.

In an important study, boating authority Alfred Balk outlines ways that some communities have found to unclog the terrific jam that 40 million pleasure boatmen—and women and children dogs—have caused on our waterways.

OUR MOST illustrious commuters are the Kennedys, who weekend at Glen Ora, their "place" in Middleburg, Virginia. Here, this month, is a story on how that sleepy suburban town is taking to the new couple—and how the newcomers are taking to Middleburg.

Morris Ernst, a noted lawyer, speaks out against the neglect of our teachers—not salary-wise, this time, but in terms of our appreciation of their heroic efforts to make human beings out of our children. Let's honor our teachers whenever we feel they deserve it, says Ernst, and proposes a plan through which grateful student bodies can say, "Thank you, professor."

"More, More," is probably the only reaction possible after a meal that includes some of the delicious, kitchen-tested tributes to dairy-cooking offered by Melanie DeProft this month—Celestial Lemon Creme, for instance, or Souffle Mont Blanc, Tomato-Cheese Dip and Ice Cream Pie Spectacular.

OUR GARDEN EDITOR, John Brimer, wishes every woman had an herb garden of her own, and tells, this month, how anyone can easily have basil, dill, tarragon, borage, chives, mint and parsley growing beside her kitchen door. The Frank Griesinger family live in a Gates Mill, Ohio, house that reflects the interests of every member of the family. There's a sewing area, art gallery, music-living room suitable for chamber music and a man-made pond stocked with bass.

In our regular features (Getting Around" and "Suburbia—Any Day!") we find a man with six autos, a lady with ants in her plants and a kid who has a few interesting things to say about geese vs. ganders; while our cartoonists wind up eating out-of-doors. "Bon Appetit" is their innocent introduction. From then on, watch out!

IN THE SWIM at Orinda Park Pool for the season are Norman and Mickey Miller, pictured here with their son, Jon, 13, and young Michael Norman, admiring a display of ribbons won by 11-year-old daughter Gayle, a Park Pool swim team champ. A committeeman and treasurer of Troop 207 (in which son Jon is a First Class Scout), Norm was '60 president of Orinda Estates Association, is a councilman of the Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church. Household, church and children occupy Mickey, who juggles a busy mother's schedule since young Mike put in his appearance 15 months ago. Orinda AFS Tea Honors Students 400 Attend

The Orinda chapter of the American Field Service will hold its annual spring tea June 4 from 3 to 5 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Long of Lombardy Lane in Orinda.

The tea will honor this year's exchange students—Ann Blow of Australia and Abbas Haghighat of Iran.

Ann has spent this year at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Stewart Kimball and attended Miramonte High School.

Abbas, also at Miramonte this year, was a member of the John Ogden family in Orinda.

MRS. TOM MIKA, president of the AFS chapter, will introduce the program which is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Kirk Miles, hospitality chairman, is in charge of arrangements. Assisting her will be the members of the AFS board.

All friends of AFS and high school students are welcome to attend.

Richard Dobell receives 3-D Prize

Richard Dobell of Orinda has received an award in architecture, the California State Polytechnic College announced.

Dobell was the recipient of the Clayton Kantz Award of $100 for outstanding ability with a three dimensional presentation.

Thirteen awards were presented in a culmination of a year of individual and departmental achievements that included winning student entries in national competition.

Two hundred students sought the 13 awards.

Hats Off To...

Don Fleming, Humanities Leader and Avid Hobbyist

A carnation in his coat lapel, please, for Don Fleming, who, however new to our community, perked up his ears on hearing plans for the Humanities Course, then plunged right in, willing and very able to recruit an impressive roster of speakers for the seminar held for students at Miramonte High School.

To Fleming, a thanks from the often standing room only audience for the inspirational speakers in the field of art, language, history and philosophy which concluded last Wednesday evening with Gerhart Samuel, director of the Oakland Symphony, extolling music's charms.

FLEMING, a manufacturer's representative for electronics, was reared in San Francisco, is married to Kathryn, a third generation bay area, claims a fourth generation "native" in his sixteen-year-old daughter, Katy. . . All share his enthusiasm for hobbies ("everything is a hobby with us") being especially partial to music, book collecting, their daschey dog and a very fine printing plant housed in their home garage which yields such gems as a century-old iron hand press, original John Henry Nash type and rare lithographs.

When the Flemings moved to their No. 8 Owl Hill Road home in the late summer of 1960, it was Orinda's gain and Piedmont's loss. . . and may the Humanities long continue.

Letters to The Editor

EL TOYONAL

Dear Editor:

(Note: The following letter was written to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors with a copy to The Sun.)

Mrs. Celia Luthy's letter, published May 5 in The Sun, does not indicate that residents of the area disagree as to what, if anything, should be done to change El Toyonal Road.

A neighborhood committee, whose most active members do not live on El Toyonal itself, has been making recommendations to the county for changes.

Those El Toyonal residents to whom I have talked unanimously fear too extensive a program of "improvements" which could not be undone later on, should there be undesirable or unforeseen results.

I WAS TOLD that residents would be polled by the committee for their opinions before any work was begun, but to my knowledge this has not been done.

We appear to be debating "what constitutes the greatest possible 'safety'" on the narrow hill roads, El Toyonal and Loma Vista, which all neighborhood residents and service carriers must use. These roads form a tunnel alternate, used also by streams of commuters and not a few joy-riders. I do not think the committee heads are as aware of this fact as the road residents; they enjoy the comparatively undisturbed peace of the side roads.

Some people think the completion of the new tunnel will restore El Toyonal to its own inhabitants, but I suspect it will continue to be a pleasant back route for those in the know, if our population explosion stays ahead of the tunnel diggers, as predicted. And unfortunately this is a back route often driven at far from "reasonable" speeds, without set limits.

ON THIS particular road, I question whether increased visibility or increased width would make for greater safety, as the committee members argue. I am afraid these would merely add a very dangerous convenience (the ability and temptation to drive even faster) without eliminating blind spots, which would call for a rearrangement of the landscape hardly within the limits of a county budget.

Commuters (and some of us impatient local residents as well!) often barrel one after another down the center of the road at breakneck speeds (which, on this road, do not exceed 25 m.p.h. in places). I do not think that better, but still imperfect, visibility will tend to increase these careless drivers' control. I could tend to hulk them even further to the dangers.

Also, the road even now attracts some pranksters and even petty thieves. If these are from outside the area, are they drawn here by the roller-coaster aspects of the roads?

County and state officials have led me to understand that the road will remain a relatively dangerous one, due to the terrain, no matter what is done to it within the realistic limits of county budgets, and that so far, statistics show a surprisingly low accident rate compared to some other Orinda roads.

Is this road really so very unsafe, or is it actually more of an inconvenience in this "zip-everywhere" age? There have been no accidents so far this year.

LAST YEAR two accidents involved personal injury and two involved property damage. Both personal-injury accidents occurred on the same curve at different times, which I hope has been a factor in planning corrections.

I do not know what changes the road committee is urging, but I note that their recommendations have resulted in work on a blind curve which they themselves do not consider a sufficient improvement (and this type of change is what I might consider "too much" for some other spot further up the hill, in light of my desire to maintain whatever possible built-in speed "governors"). The committee is now asking that we complain to the county, as if we had all given full approval to extensive changes from the beginning, and since the issue has now been brought into the newspapers, I feel it imperative to register a protest and a plea.

I URGE the board of supervisors to consider, and test where possible, the observations of main-road residents on traffic patterns and the necessary exposure of our young children to this road in a pedestrian capacity. The committee has assured us that they do not want a "freeway," but this becomes a matter of degree as you improve a thoroughfare, and I fear that many of us could, over the long run, suffer the results of "improvements" carried too far.

I also hope that there can be a more communicative effort to discuss road plans with all concerned; one neighborhood meeting seems insufficient in favor of "improvements" of widely

New Episcopal Mission Gets Official Nod

A new Episcopal Church Mission, formed to serve the area south of Glorietta and Rheem Boulevards, will be formally recognized as a Diocesan Mission at an organization meeting to be held June 8, at 8 p.m. in the Mission's temporary chapel in the Rheem Shopping Center.

According to Jack Prescott of Moraga, chairman of the Mission's steering committee, all Episcopal parishioners residing in the area, as well as those persons interested in joining the Episcopal Church, are urged to attend.

BISHOP Richard Millard, Suffragan Bishop of the California Diocese, will represent Bishop James A. Pike in receiving the Mission's petition to be organized and recognized. The name of the Mission will be announced at the meeting and the Bishops Committee elected.

Regular services are scheduled to begin with Morning Prayer July 2, at 10 a.m.

The Sociables

By MARIE MONAHAN

"A POTPOURRI OF JUNE" promises a very unusual afternoon next Tuesday w/the progressive-styled patio luncheon to precede the piece de resistance (pardon our french, says Elsie Granberg).

BUT you can truthfully call it that—for the speaker to address the lunching ladies will be John Wallis of Pasadena, who designed and built the unique and beautiful stained glass windows of the new Community Church.

"The Legend of the Windows" will be the real dividend of the June 6 afternoon which, in the June tradition, is being hosted by the Women's Guild of the Orinda Community Church.

THE EIGHT home patios where two of the three lunch courses will be served have been divided into pairs within walking distance of each other & so offer no parking problems.

Third course in the luncheon, being dessert & beverage, will be offered at the church patio in the hour preceding talk. An appetizer course will be served on the first patio of each pair of houses and a salad bar luncheon on the second.

PATIOS PRETTY . . . The pairs of lovely & unusual homes include the Sheldon Allen & Charles Nelson patios on Haciendas Road. The Allen patio is located above a free-form pool on a hillside & is charmingly functional in feeling. The decor will be a modern w/an abstract art show to match the almost Aztec-type lines of the hand-some angular house.

The Charles Nelson patio is a Roman garden atmosphere w/ overhanging oaks & a waterfall over a brick wall. Decor will be bright flowers, statuary & mosaics, Roman style.

The William Penn Mott's authentic Spanish Colonial Hacienda on Ardilla Rd., & the Norman Parker's picturesque Welsh farm cottage on Rose Lane are just a stone's throw apart . . . In the Mott Home you are high on a hillside in old Taxco & at the Parker's you find yourself in a st-rybook setting spilling over w/flowers. Eva & Norman's friends will be delighted to see the studio house & balcony now nearing completion. On display, a clothesline art show & modern sculpture.

THE HORACE REED & David Liu patios are across the street from each other on Camino Encinas. The Reed home, rustic & wooded w/the delights of the high mountains but none of the discomforts, will be cool if June brings us a hot day. Here, envy a prize camellia collection.

The David Liu patio, Chinese in feeling w/the atmosphere of a courtyard in Imperial Peking, will be the favorite of ladies who like the oriental touch. The work of noted Orinda artists & craftsmen will be exhibited at these two homes.

MORE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL . . . The Kenneth Courtright & Charles Haist homes are the newest ones in the group, both California ranch homes on Ivy Drive & El Corte out Miramonte Way.

The Courtright garden is a modern oriental rock creation around the pool . . . Here, sip your appetizer under an umbrella in the serenity of exquisite design . . . The Haist home is what all our friends back East think of as a dream of California living in an orchard . . . Take your salad on the grass under pear trees & at both homes view the painting & hobby displays.

DESSERT & BEVERAGES will be served on the church patios & in Fellowship Hall . . . Decor will be in keeping with the stained-glass window theme & there will be an exhibit of handmade jewelry, a demonstration of silk screen printing on fabric as well as painting & crafts. Then the story of The Windows by Mr. Wallis, who, incidentally, has been commissioned to do the same beautiful job for St. Andrews Episcopal Cathedral, Honolulu; Pearl Harbor Memorial Community Church; Northbrae Community Church & Arlington Community Church in Berkeley, & more.

HOW CAN YOU MISS . . . A most unusual afternoon plus, we almost forgot, an organ program by the church director of music Donald Hartsell, which will realize in auditory form the visual legend of the windows.

Come & be inspired in many ways. For tickets at $2.50, call Elsie Harmon, CL 4-3588, or Molly Nelson, CL 4-5566. (Molly is General Chairman.)

The annual tea honoring visiting AFS students, Anne & Abbess, will be held on Sunday at the James M. Long's residence in Sleepy Hollow . . . Friends of the AFS program are invited to the tea which will take place from 3-5 p.m. w/the program slated for precisely at 3:30 p.m.

Senior Class Students Move Into High Gear!

By CAROL PEDERSON & SUSAN COX

Miramonte held its annual student body elections for next year's student body officers and the turnout was as follows: President, Barry Klopfer; vice-president, Tom Gunn; secretary, Carol Troy; treasurer, Tara Doty; social secretary, Melinda Love; chief justice, Rich Gallagher, and head cheer leader, Sue Hancock. On behalf of the student body we wish these new officers good luck in their duties next year.

May 23 was the day of the Senior Assembly. There were many good acts, among which were: A modern dance group, a Spanish dance, a pantomime to the "Little Egypt" record, an electric guitar and drum group, a take-off on the U. S. Counterspy Intelligence Racket and the "What Fours," a singing group of the better voices in the class.

There was also a skit portraying the teachers at a picnic at Bolinger Canyon; various girls did take-offs on certain teachers, and it was a skit of good nature and fun.

Also remember you stragglers that it's not too late to pay your money for the All Night, but if you plan to pay and haven't done so already turn your $12.50 in to Ogden's.

This Program Deserves All The Support It Can Get...

Elementary school principals don't make a great deal of money by our inflated standards today. Therefore, when one hears that a group of these men and women are willing to donate of their own money for an educational aid for their district, you get the impression that they feel a real need for this device.

And that is exactly what has happened. A group of principals in the Mt. Diablo Unified School District have pledged funds toward the construction of a TV relay tower on Mt. Diablo which would bring Channel 9—the educational TV station—reception to their schools.

THIS PROGRAM of educational TV is not new. It has not been fully pursued in this area because of the difficulties of reception. The construction of a $15,000 translator on Mt. Diablo would practically eradicate the reception problem — with the possible exception of Orinda.

This may sound like a lot of money, but when you stop to consider that there are 45,000 youngsters attending elementary schools in this area, you realize that the original cost per pupil is negligible... about 33 cents per child, to be exact.

And after that, the program is practically free, because the translator would be maintained by the TV station.

THE LAFAYETTE School District has shown an active interest in this program and is even now investigating methods of raising funds for this purpose. Orinda is sceptical because of the possible reception problem.

We also feel that there is a possible solution to the financing of such an installation. Since every school district in the county could use the services of the station once it were installed, couldn't this matter better be handled through the county school department with the help of the county itself?

The school districts have pointed out that they are having difficulty raising funds for this project. The biggest support has come from individuals within the various districts who are willing to make personal contributions.

WE THINK that this should be accomplished, no matter how the financing is arranged. But if the people are willing to contribute—so far $2300 has been pledged in the Mt. Diablo District alone—then it seems to us that this program has enough merit to receive the general support of the county.

What use is made of the facility, and how effective it is, seems to us to be a problem which must be solved by the individual districts.

You can misuse a good tool, or use a poor tool well, depending upon your own skill.

But the opportunity is too great to ignore. And action should be taken right away so the facilities will be ready for use in time for the fall semester.

Is Your Home Available?

Most of us tend to think of "charity" as something that is needed elsewhere. Because we have few serious problems ourselves, we tend to think that they don't exist next door... or down the street.

Did you know that there are literally hundreds of children, right here in our county, who have no home to go to?

Did you know that there are children who are looking for the love and respect—and authority—that can be provided by good responsible parents?

These facts are true, and there is something you can do about it. And it won't be charity, either.

THERE ARE many, many children living in the Contra Costa Juvenile Hall who are not "criminals." They are there because of one misfortune or another—frequently because their own home environment is not suitable.

They are living in juvenile hall because they have no other home. And, while they receive good care there, it is still no substitute for a family and a home.

Some of these children have problems. Most of these problems vanish as soon as the child is placed in an environment where mutual respect exists.

WHAT CAN we do about it? We who live in Central Contra Costa County are more fortunate than many people. We live in a lovely area, we are generally stable and settled, and we have a lot to offer in the important resources, both of environment and education and understanding.

Our homes are, in many cases, built to order to shelter and help a less fortunate youngster.

The county has a crying need for foster homes.

The youngsters have an even more need for the proper environment.

It would seem that there are few areas in the county which are more adapted to this kind of program by virtue of the population and location. But many of those of us could help these youngsters are not doing so.

MOST AUTHORITIES in the county feel that this is due to ignorance on the part of adults who fear that they are going to get some young "hood" in the family.

But all you have to do to dispel this notion is to talk to one of the many people who have been foster parents. We spoke to one lady the other day who has been a foster mother to seven children over the past few years.

She would not trade the experience for anything. She admitted that it is difficult to give the children up (you do not adopt them) but added that you only tried to help the child and do what is best for him.

SHE ADMITTED that children had come into her home with problems, but hastened to point out that many children had problems and that in this case the problems were solved without undue hardship, either on the child or on her family.

Many of us who could do something are complacent. We could be doing what is not really more than our share, because the benefits to us, as foster parents, are greater than the troubles.

And if you are really interested, the county could use your help.

Why not investigate for yourself?

Give Parents a Break!

The memory of school open house time, when parents trot breathlessly through the halls peering at their offspring's work, still lingers in the area.

And one memory in particular hangs on. That is the frustration of parents who have youngsters in elementary school and in high school, and found, to their despair, that the evening open house meetings conflicted.

IN MANY CASES the parents split up—one attending the elementary school open house, the other the high school.

In some cases, one of the open houses just plain suffered as the parents stuck together and visited one school only.

We have a suggestion to make that we think is reasonable. Why not have the high schools schedule their open houses during a different week than the elementary schools?

We know that all school districts like to hold these affairs during public schools week. But isn't it better to give everybody a chance to attend the function than to rely on tradition?

We think that there would be two benefits from the re-arranged schedule. Obviously more parents would be able to attend if they wished. There would be no conflict.

AND, SECONDLY, many parents have several children, attending different schools. Consequently they find themselves attending two or three meetings during the one week.

We feel that they might enjoy attending the high school function more, even if there were no conflict, if they could go when they didn't have to sandwich the meeting into a week where they had already been "open-housed" to death.

Does this sound reasonable?

SECOND SECTION ORINDA SUN Friday, June 2, 1961

"Hello, Thrift Shop? I have some things I want to dispose of... A pair of skates, size 3. A pair of aluminum stilts. Some good clothing, too. My little niece was... she... won't be needing them... ever again."

Drivers kill and cripple more children than any disease!

We have vaccine for polio. We're zeroing in on cancer. But what are we doing about the worst child killer of all—traffic accidents? Here's one thing you can do. Write your local enforcement officials. Tell them:

"I Support Strict Law Enforcement!"

Let your police and courts know you're behind their efforts to protect your children. For where traffic laws are strictly enforced and obeyed, deaths go down! Hundreds of communities have proved it.

COUNTRY ROAD

Dear Editor:

Recent remarks in the letters to the editor's column relative to improvements on El Toyonal prompt me to make a few observations on this subject at the risk of keeping alive an issue which already has been over-worked.

Being a resident who lives directly on one of the narrowest sections of El Toyonal, I appear to have a slightly different point of view of this situation than some of those who do not live on it but use it as an access road.

The present decision of the county to improve El Toyonal came about, as I understand, because of pressure by residents in this area to make the road "safer" for traffic and for children using it as pedestrians. If one accepts the premise that in order for the road to be made "safer", it must be widened, then the example of the corner near the Canon Drive intersection certainly seems like a sufficient improvement to accomplish the intended result.

I am afraid that any further grading or banking of the turn would be a waste of money since any additional increase in safety due to road improvements would probably be immediately offset by increased traffic speeds.

Certainly no one can argue that a minimum of clearing and widening in the worst areas of El Toyonal would not be helpful—but it will only be helpful if it is done in a manner that will not encourage traffic to flow at a faster rate of speed than it currently does.

If we spend a great deal of money for improvements on a road which permits people to drive 30 miles per hour instead of 20, what have we gained except to increase the hazards for those who live on the road and increase the probability for higher taxes for the entire area (a possibility which is fresh in my mind in view of recent developments)?

I should think that installation of an adequate shoulder along the portions of El Toyonal where none now exists would be a more satisfactory result since it would create a safe path for pedestrians and an emergency turn-out for vehicles without contributing toward increasing the traffic speed.

We are fortunate to live in a delightful country area which is served by a country road. I would like to keep it that way.

PARKS

Dear Editor:

Who decides whether an area is to be turned into a park? Some committee such as the Richmond Recreation and Parks Commission?

Or do the people of the area involved have some rights in the matter?

I notice the Richmond group had the good sense not to endorse a reservoir in their back yard. Instead they picked out Orinda.

I AM referring to the endorsement last week of using the Lafayette reservoir for recreational purposes. Your photograph neglected to show its location in relation to the homes in the area. Although the entrance is off Mt. Diablo Blvd., the reservoir land itself is in the midst of Orinda homes. And as you stated, it is indeed in our back yard.

On my street alone, it is the back yard, and in some cases the front yard, of my homes. The Lafayette reservoir land is just two blocks off Glorietta Blvd. in Orinda.

Needless to say, the people of Orinda already have quite a tax load supporting the rest why this reservoir should not be used as a park. For one thing, it is in a residential neighborhood, with only a barbed wire fence to separate the property. We are constantly being warned by the EBMUD of the county. Now you want us to support a park in our midst... that will doubtlessly be used by everyone but Orindans. Orinda as a whole is striving to maintain its residential atmosphere—or has been.

Are we now trying to make it a tourist attraction?

THERE ARE many reasons and the fire department, of the ever constant hazard of fire. The area is dry and yellow all summer.

For years the EBMUD has been worried enough about the purity of the water to post NO TRESSPASSING signs all along the fences, and to chase out offenders in no uncertain manner. How can they NOW say in all honesty that such use will NOT pollute the water. The idea of people eating, and horseback riding, to name a few, around our drinking supplies seems like a health hazard to me.

IT IS going to bring in many undesirable elements. I hope the county can support a larger police force on the present budget. It should be an open sesame for burglaries and vandalism around the fringes of the park. Not to mention the sex deviates who will probably be around.

It will destroy the property value that the assessors have put such high figures on. It would be too much to hope, that they would reassess downward. Can we afford another reassessment, to pay for a project that will be open to the public of ALL counties?

I ask again, who will decide this matter? Will the LOCAL taxpayers have a voice in this decision?

NOMA JAMOND

OMISSION

Dear Editor:

In your April 14 issue of the Sun, you were kind enough to run a publicity release on the benefit concert given by the Music Teachers' Association on the following Sunday.

We are grateful for the attention it received and its good location.

However, if you consult the story and check my original release, you will note that a section has been omitted. In printing the backgrounds of the three artists appearing, you left out Mrs. Honnold's training and experience.

This seems rather unfair to Mrs. Honnold since she gave equally of her time and talents to make the concert a success. She is a professional violinist, appearing each summer as soloist at Yosemite National Park. She has been a member of the University of California symphony, the Oakland symphony and the Woodminster orchestra. She was honored by being selected to appear in a string orchestra with Richard Purvis in Grace Cathedral in San Francisco...

SCHOOL BOARD

Dear Editor:

May I take this opportunity to express my heartfelt thanks to the many Orindans who expressed their confidence in my ability to be an effective member of the school board, and to you for your excellent coverage of the contest.

It is gratifying to know that the people of Orinda and The Sun consider the excellence of education so important. I shall try very hard to do my part in this vital task.

Under The Sun Here's the Latest Word From (Feminine) Tahiti

BY ELEANOR SILVERMAN

(Sun Associate Publisher Eleanor Silverman sends us the woman's view of Tahiti from Papeete, Tahiti.) "A woman's angle of Tahiti. There's no such thing," was the warning from the dreamy-eyed officers on the Matsonia, who had visited Tahiti many times and who longed to return.

Legend and history would have us believe that Tahiti is a "Men Only" paradise, a wonderful world of willing wahines.

But don't be fooled, girls, or you might miss out on the best vacation of your life.

Looking out on the beautiful island of Moorea Mitchener's Bali Hai) across the silver glass of the Pacific from the porch of our thatched room cottage at the Hotel Tahiti—the view is breathtaking in beauty and tranquility.

Warmth and Charm Will Greet You

The warmth and charm of our hostess, Maxine, on our flight from Hawaii on South Pacific Air Lines, gave us a clue of what we might find in Tahiti.

It was well after the dinner hour, but Maxine brought us a platter of assorted sandwiches, hors d'oeuvres, cocktails, coffee, pineapple juice, guava juice, champagne, and on and on.

Great if you're a juggler by trade, but we weren't used to all this luxury and attention.

As we blissfully spilled pineapple juice and champagne all over ourselves, Maxine just as quickly took all the blame. The more we spilled, the more she apologized, and the more we laughed.

We couldn't have had a better equator crossing dunking if old Neptune himself had handled the job.

Maxine was just the first of a series of happy, laughing people we were to meet in Tahiti.

Soon after we entered our luxurious (yet simple in design and native style) cottage at the Hotel Tahiti—"The Seven Dwarfs" invaded our room.

How About Cleaning This Way?

It was clean-up time, and the lovely singing, giggling Tahitian girls took over our room. One with the mop, one with the broom, one with the bucket and soap, one with the vacuum—and presto, the room was immaculate.

There's an idea for us suburbanites. Think of the fun it would be if seven of our neighbors got together on housecleanings. The vacuums would work faster and the coffee would taste better and we'd have a ball all the time—a la Tahiti.

Speaking of housekeeping, we were lucky to visit the home of a Tahitian family. Eight or nine kids were playing happily in the back room of this spotless home. Some were grandchildren, some were nieces, and some were sons and daughters. They were dark, blonde, light skinned, dark skinned, yellow skinned and adorable.

The uncle of nine years was holding and carressing his darling niece of seven years.

"Kids are no problem here," our Tahitian friends explained. "Everyone wants them and will happily take your child off your hands either for an evening or for a lifetime."

There's no back talk, no fighting — just fun and laughter.

As to what to wear in Tahiti, that's no problem either. We saw a sizeable factory called Brasserie of Tahiti. After seeing the simple dresses and paraus worn by the native girls, we wondered how a brassiere factory could make a go of it.

The mystery was cleared up when they brought us our beer at Viana (Enrico's of Tahiti) with the big label, "Brasserie of Tahiti," Tahiti's own brewery.

Form a Line to the Left, Girls

But what you wear in Tahiti and what you buy in Tahiti to wear at home is something else again.

Any dress costs $7 to make. It doesn't matter if it is a Paris copy of an elegant formal or if its a simple cotton sheath. It's all $7.

With the exquisite brocades of Hong Kong, the polished cottons and laces from France available at low prices, you go out of your mind—going broke saving money on your fall wardrobe.

Of course, if you want cute simple cottons, I'd recommend the corner Chinese grocery store was a $4 dress which would cost about $19.95 at home.

You'll Never Recognize Yourself

After you walk out of the grocery store in your quickly altered cotton and your garland of flowers in your hair, you catch the reflection of yourself in a store window and see what looks like a native gal, a far cry from the outfit you wore to the captain's dinner on the Matsonia.

Just a word of warning, Quinn's, the exciting and world famous bar in Tahiti, is no place to let your hair down—particularly if you wear it long and if you are a native Tahitian.

The girl on the dance floor next to us must not have liked the way her girl friend eyed the man she was dancing with.

Pulling the long hair must be fair game. Within two minutes we witnessed a wild hair tug of war between the two Tahitian "Quinn's" girls.

The bouncer expertly separated them by the hair, dragged them out, and in no time the two were back happily dancing with other guys.

Another joy of Tahiti is the "No Tipping" rule. Even before you get off the plane, you are warned against spoiling the native custom of hospitality by tipping.

As our Tahitian friends explained, "What would we do with the money? We are where everyone wants to be anyway."

DISGUST

Dear Editor:

I have just read with much repulsion and disgust an article concerning a cat who found himself up a tree and unable to return to terra firma.

Many cats find themselves in a like predicament but never have I heard of such so-called "help" as from the animal pound on Industrial Highway.

They shot the cat twice and left. Is that the way humane organizations operate?

Are humans becoming more cruel? I fear they are. In San Mateo there is the case of two men (?) teaching their dog to kill a cat by hanging the cat by one leg and urging the dog to attack it; also the Alameda case of a so-called man of 19 shooting a cat through its hindquarters, and that was by no means his first offense.

It isn't only juveniles who are cruel, but "as the twig is bent, so grows the tree."

What kindly children all these must have been!

After being chosen by the Lafayette Women's Club, Linda went on to win over 1545 other entries in the district, then state and finally in the national judging in New York. She won a $1000 scholarship for herself and $500 each for her school and the Lafayette Women's Club.

Hammers Wed May 20 In Berkeley

Wed May 20 in the Northbrae Community Church in Berkeley were Mr. and Mrs. Mike H. Hammer, now residing in Oakland, after a Carmel honeymoon.

Rev. Lawrence Cross officiated at the nuptial rites performed before an altar decorated with white glads.

The newlyweds received guests at the Horizon Room at the Hotel Claremont after their marriage ceremony.

Pink and white glads decorated the reception room and a five-tier pink and white cake topped with Stephanotis and pink satin bells was the center of attraction.

Bonnie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Lewis of Lafayette, greeted guests with her husband, Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hammer of Hayward.

The bridal gown was full length white peau satin. A bouffant skirt with chapel train was attached to a fitted bodice adorned with beads and pearls.

A Swedish crown held her fingertip veil. The bridal bouquet consisted of pink carnations, pink garnet roses and Stephanotis.

Attendants were Mary L. Schneider, Susan Perry, Sigana Teagarden and Robin Kingsley. They wore pale pink chiffon dresses with matching accessories. The bridesmaids carried white laced baskets with pink and white daisies.

Best man to the groom was Bob Moss of Orinda. Ushering duties were carried out by Richard W. Perry, a cousin, of Oakland, Al Mars of San Lorenzo, Bob W. Lewis, a brother, of Lafayette.

Mike graduated from Arroyo High School in San Lorenzo. He belongs to Order of DeMolay, San Lorenzo chapter.

Bonnie is a graduate of Acalanes High School. She is past president of Native Daughters Golden West Number 33 in Walnut Creek. She was a Walnut Festival princess in 1959. She is also a member of Jobs Daughters, Bethel Number 218, of Lafayette.

Rehabilitation Council Notes 1st Anniversary

The Contra Costa Rehabilitation Council celebrated an anniversary at its annual meeting luncheon at Paul's of Martinez, yesterday.

The date marked the successful first year of a four-year community project for coordination of services to the handicapped, supported by a grant from the Federal Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

James A. Walker, northern regional supervisor of the State Vocational Rehabilitation Service, spoke.

In October, 1960, the council opened a centralized information and referral service for disabled county residents, offering diagnosis and planning for rehabilitation needs, referral to the appropriate facilities, and close follow-up.

Office space has been made available by the county hospital at 2500 Alhambra Avenue, Martinez, and by the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center in Pleasant Hill.

Equipment and services have been donated by the county health department and by a number of voluntary health agencies.

More than 200 persons have been referred to the project offices in the last eight months by physicians, agencies, family and friends.

Fulton Lewis III Is Local Speaker

Fulton Lewis III, who provided the commentary of the controversial film, "Operation Abolition," spoke recently at Acalanes and Miramonte High schools.

He said that speakers from the "right" also have something to say, and added that "... You don't have to be a liberal to be an intellectual."

6 Data Processors Needed by County

Contra Costa County is currently recruiting for six new positions, F. E. Emery, director of personnel, announced today.

The positions include five trainee data processing programmers ($458-$556) and one data processing analyst ($644-$782).

The county is purchasing the latest in electronic data processing equipment.

The five programmer trainees and the supervisor will form a new team to design the systems and procedures required to adapt the data processing equipment to a wide variety of accounting and analytical projects.

Minimum standards for the trainee position includes college graduation or four years of full time paid work experience.

Data processing analyst requires, in addition to high school graduation, four years of tabulating machine experience which includes two years of systems and procedures development and programming for computer tape systems.

Candidates for the trainee positions must submit their applications to the Contra Costa County Civil Service Department, Room 229, Hall of Records, Martinez, no later than June 9.

Fishing Is Still Poor; Report From the Clubs

By LARRY JACKSON

Well, sports—looks like the same old story. When are we going to get some real fishing weather? That is the cry all along the fishing fronts. Too much wind, too few fish and fewer fishermen.

Most of the localities who took off for the boondocks over the long weekend are still up there—at deadline time—so will have to report their success—or lack of—next week. Many of our W.C. Lafayette-Pleasant Hill anglers who said they were going for a vacation—we hope—will have something pleasing to offer.

Dowdriels had just another week, with the afternoon boats taking fish when weather permitted and the addicts showed up.

TROLLERS have been taking most of the fish in the 8-10 pound class with the top fish going just over 12 pounds. The fish are not taking the live bait, only jugs. Anchovies are scarce and the wind drove many craft ashore before good "takes" could be taken.

White's Fishing Resort had a fine group of anglers on the wharf Sunday, but the fish failed to cooperate. We saw several non-keepers being docked and then tossed back. Several nice flounder were sacked, but that was about the extent of the sport. During the week, several of the die-hard boaters did a little successful trolling off the "flats," but the wind soon cut their efforts short. Just too cold and too rough.

All reports at McAvoy's Harbor were dismal—and we will be darned "iffen" we will say good when it ain't—only a few boats out as the going was rough and the wind raw. A lady angler, shore fishing on Saturday had a nice sturgeon almost in when her son tried to help by grabbing the leader—goodbye fish.

FRAN KILLINGSWORTH, one of our locals and winner of a top Schenley Award with a fine over-thirty striper, braved the wind on Sunday and returned with one just over the keeper size. Fran said the waves in Suisun Cutoff and Honker Bay looked like the ocean and kept him from his favorite spot. Let's hope fishing gets better soon before the guys and gals forget how.

SPORTSMEN CORNER

The 23rd saw a fine group gathered for the W.C. Sportsmen's Club meeting. The members reported an all-out effort by the club with a do not pass demand for AB 1887. We haven't had the results as yet, so will pass that along next week. Ken Franca reported on the activities of the ASC and their votes on the fish and game bills.

Jim Monk reported that he has 42 teen-agers in his safety gun class at the range and the boys are all showing great progress and interest. Jim also asked the club to consider joining the National Rifleman's Association, as this would facilitate getting more ammunition for the boys at a much cheaper rate. This would also qualify all youngsters for NRA events and awards, giving the groups more incentive.

Those present voted to have the board of directors approve the matter at the next meeting, which will also be the election of officers meeting.

Three of our local members, Jim Buck, Tim Cole and Harvey Selvey, made the trip up to the fork of the Pitt River the past weekend, presented a fine display of limits of rainbows in the 15-18-inch class going upwards to two pounds. A grand bag of fish. The boys reported cold weather as well as water, but the fishing really "tops." Next meeting will be the voting night, so if you want to get your friends in office—don't miss it, fellows.

THE IKE WALTON League held their meeting at the Bonanza Street office on the 25th. It was just too bad that the crowd wasn't larger, as the program was one of great interest as well as entertainingly presented by William I. Follett, Curator of Fishes of the California Academy of Sciences.

Prof "Bill" showed slides of the different types of shark that are in our local waters off the Nor-Cal coast and beaches. He showed the man-eaters as well as the harmless dog fish types of the inshore waters. Follett gave a fine history of the fish and where they might be expected. The talk was lively and interesting, with a "bang-up" question and answer session as climax.

Follett not only knows his subject, but presents a very clear and interesting lecture on it. A fine speaker and an interesting personality, as we found out after the meeting.

Chalk up another fine meeting for this I.W. Chapter that is well on its way to being a solid organization for the community. This club also went 100 per cent against AB 1887 and are hoping for a good report of its defeat shortly. Thanks gang, we enjoyed ourselves.

A fine crowd—close to 200 were on hand ready to make the Antioch-Stockton boat race as well as the cruise to Fig Island over the long weekend.

195 Game Tops WC Jr. League

The high team series in the Walnut Bowl's Junior League was rolled by team No. 11. Their score was 2193.

The high game was rolled by Ken Rosen who fired a 195.

Team No. 7 still leads the league with a record of 19-5. Team No. 2 is in second with an 18-6 record.

In the Bantam league, teams 4 and 3 are tied for first place with 7-1 records.

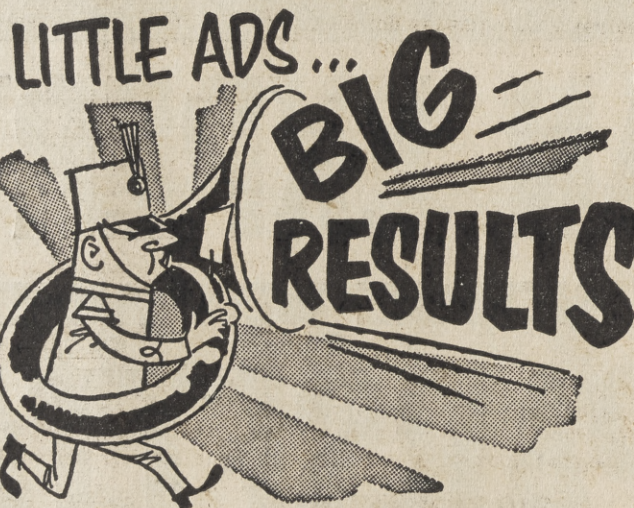

Jean Gilbert had high game of 143 while Skip Parsons had high series of 224. Pat Ravitt had a 223 series.

8 DVAL-FAL Trackmen Qualify for State Meet

The largest delegation ever to represent the Foothill and Diablo Valley Athletic Leagues will be participating in the state CIF track meet in Los Angeles tomorrow.

The two leagues combined to capture eight berths in the state meet at the North Coast Section meet last Saturday in Berkeley.

The two leagues combined to take 16 places in the meet. The highlight of last Saturday's meet was a sensational 4:14.4 mile run by Morgan Groth of Alhambra.

His time ranks him as the eighth fastest miler among national high school milers.

THE TIME also broke the North Coast record of 4:16.1 set by Berkeley's Harry McCalla in 1960.

Dave Deubner of Miramonte finished fourth in the mile run with a time of 4:20.7. It was the best effort of his career.

In addition to Groth, Bill Caldwell, Barry Rilliet, Greg Ford, Henry Lawson, Paul Connor and the Pittsburg relay team will be making the trip.

Caldwell of Miramonte finished third in the 100-yard dash with a time of 10.3. Acalanes' Chris Rinne finished fifth.

Jim Cheatham of Menlo-Atherton won the event with a 9.9. Rilliet of Piedmont finished third in the high jump with a leap of 6-2.

Clayton Anderson of Fremont won the high jump with a 6-4 leap.

Ford of Clayton Valley was third in the 180 low hurdles at 19.6 and then topped a second in the 120 high hurdles with a 14.6.

PLEASANT HILL's Cliff Esslinger was fourth in the high jump with a 4-8.

Gary Gaskill of Carlmont won the event with a record-tying 14.5. Lawson of Pittsburg was second in the broad jump with a leap of 22-1. Charles Booth of El Cerrito won the event with a 23-4.

Lawson also joined John L. Brown, Mike Grillo and Alonzo Mitchell in running a 1:30.4 in the 880 relay. Their time was good for a third place finish and a trip to Los Angeles when first-place Carlmont was disqualified for a cutting-in infraction.

Connor, also of Pittsburg, tied meet favorite John Stulgis of Encinal for first place in the pole vault as both broke the 13-3 record set only last year by Don Brockett of Pittsburg.

Connor and Stulgis both cleared 13-4 1/2.

CONNOR's best effort last year was a 11-6.

Although only the first three finishers in each event qualified for the state meet, points were awarded to the first five in each event.

Acalanes picked up a fourth place in the relay, while Dick Gentry of Pleasant Hill was fourth in the 440 with a 49.8.

Lloyd Rossi Is DCC Golf Champ

Lloyd Rossi defeated Hal Morgan, 5-4, to win the Diablo Country Club golf championship last Sunday.

It was Rossi's fourth club championship.

The 1960 champion, Jim Frost, is no longer a member of the club and could not defend his title.

Rossi was even par over the 36 holes (72-72) while Morgan was five over for 36.

Rossi started the morning round poorly and was down three at the end of three holes. He recovered beautifully, however, and was on top by three at the end of the first 18 holes.

Morgan cut his advantage when he took the first two holes of the afternoon round, but Rossi again came back to win handily.

Rossi defeated Don McDowell, Dean McDowell and Lou Scott on his way to the title.

Morgan had defeated former champion Bud Shank, Jim Roessler and Art Anderson to gain the final round.

Tom Lamanna Scores Ace at Walnut Hills

Tom Lamanna of Lafayette scored his first hole-in-one last Monday at Walnut Hills Country Club.

He scored the ace on the fourth hole with a 9-iron.

State Meet Opens Sunday At Walnut Creek and DVC

The annual National Baseball Congress State Tournament gets under way Sunday in this area, with games scheduled at Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill and Civic Field in Walnut Creek.

The double-elimination Bay Area tourney will run for four consecutive Sundays at the two fields.

The two winners will then meet for the right to enter the state finals at San Rafael June 30.

The state meet will host 24 teams from all parts of California. It will be divided into second segments, the latter starting July 28 and made up of 14 teams who must travel the farthest distance.

THE CHAMPION of the state tourney will win $1000 plus the right to national tourney at Wichita, Kansas, which begins August 8.

The national champion collects $10,000.

At Civic Field in Walnut Creek, the local Merchants semi-pro team will face the San Francisco Misracks at 3 p.m.

The opening game at 12:30 is between 88-cent Stores and Jackson-Goldie Ford of San Francisco.

At Diablo Valley College, Pleasant Hill faces the Mill Valley Merchants at 3 p.m.

The 12:30 game will feature Crockett and the San Francisco Longshoremen.

PLEASANT HILL, coached by Bill Howerton, goes into the tourney with a 3-2 record in the Abe Rose NBC League.

The NBC suspends action in its leagues during the month of June to decide the state tourney representatives.

Other qualifying tournaments in this area are being held at Oakland, Richmond and Alameda. Four teams play at each field.

Walnut Creek, coached by Joe McElroy, is not competing in the NBC League at the present, but will become a member and compete in the second half of the season following the state tourney.

The Misracks are not a member of the league either. The two other teams are members.

The 88-cent Stores have a 3-2 record, while Jackson-Goldie is 2-3.

At Diablo Valley College, Mill Valley is an independent, as is Crockett. The Longshoremen have a 2-3 league record.

DEFENDING state champion is Hatzell Radio of El Cerrito. They automatically have a place in the state meet at San Rafael. Presently they are 2-3 in league play.

Last year's runner-up, Nesbit-Masonry of San Jose, also has a berth in the state finals for its showing last year.

Sullivan's Furniture of Grand Rapids, Michigan, is the defending national champion of the National Baseball Congress.

Kennel Club To Hold Annual Puppy Match

Contra Costa County Kennel Club will hold its fifth annual puppy match at the Civic Center area in Concord Sunday, it was announced today by Tim Cooper, Selby, match chairman.

Sanctioned by the American Kennel Club, the event is expected to draw an entry equal to last year's 250 puppies.

The competition is open to all purebred puppies between three and 12 months of age.

The competition will be divided by breed, variety, sex and age where sufficient entries permit.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to the winners in each area of competition.

Judging of puppies will commence at 1 p.m. and is open to the public without charge.

Jim McManus, Palo Alto, has been assigned the task of selecting the best puppy in the match.

Community Welfare Council Receives Grant

The Contra Costa Community Welfare Council with offices in Richmond, Walnut Creek and Pittsburg has received a Ford Foundation grant to study services for the aging throughout the county.

This community is one of seven selected on the basis of need throughout the United States for the community organization project.

THIS demonstration research project will be guided and evaluated by the Graduate School of Social Welfare at Brandeis University during the next three years.

May 25, the local community welfare council heard Gertrude Hall, a council member, speak about the problems of the aged.

She said this county doesn't have enough services for the aging.

THE GOAL in Contra Costa County as a result of this grant is to demonstrate and evaluate methods of mobilizing, organizing and coordinating community services for older persons in the county.

The project will begin in this county in the following ways.

Community or area coordinating committees will be organized to study local needs and select priorities.

Implementation will be carried out by volunteer groups, public departments or agencies in the community who have an interest or concern in the selected field.

NEEDS, which are common throughout the county, will be referred to a county-wide coordinating committee on aging which will be made up of representatives from area coordinating committees.

The general objective of the seven projects is to discover and develop more effective methods of community organization in meeting and serving the needs of older people.

Thus, existing resources will be better utilized and/or expanded as opportunities are broadened for retired or pre-retired persons.

THIS MAY include projects on one or more of the following fields: Housing, rehabilitation, employment, leisure time, health, visiting nurse, volunteer service or counseling.

The purpose of the project is to develop opportunities for older persons in such a way that their lives may become more enhanced throughout the latter years of life.

THE BOARD of directors of the Contra Costa Community Welfare Council is composed of: Judge Wakefield Taylor, president; Judge Manuel C. Rose Jr., first vice president; Mrs. John G. Kelly, second vice president; Dr. George J. Paul, third vice president; Ben Goldberger, secretary-treasurer.

Also on the council are: Miss Julia B. Combs, Mrs. Jack Dana, Ralph L. Harris, Mrs. Harmon H. Howard, E. T. Kendrick, Mrs. Meredith Morgan Jr., Donald Morrison, Mrs. Norman Sundborg, Rev. Palmer Watson, Dr. Edith Wise, Miss Lillian Wurzel.

DIRECTOR of the Walnut Creek office of the council is Mrs. Sigrid Deeds.

Nurses Will Graduate Tomorrow

The Contra Costa County Chapter of Catholic Nurses will hold its annual installation breakfast tomorrow at the Roundup Restaurant, 1901 Salvio Street, Concord.

Preceding the breakfast, mass will be at Most Precious Blood Church on Oak Grove Road.

New officers will be Mrs. Kenneth Kent, president; Mrs. Daniel Juarez, vice-president; Mrs. Emmett McKeegan, secretary; and Mrs. David Traverso, treasurer.

A three-year scholarship will go to Miss Janet Trebino, senior at Mt. Diablo High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ermino Trebino of 1905 Ashbury Drive, Concord.

Reservations for the breakfast may be made with Mrs. John Farley. All registered and vocational nurses are invited.

'Friendly' Luncheons Are Held

A series of "Friendly Neighbor" luncheons were held daily this week in Central Contra Costa. Mrs. John Glover of Walnut Creek is general coordinator.

The informal get-togethers were designed for busy women who are active in their communities.

The luncheons were arranged to promote wider information and understanding of the year round role of the United Crusade, Mrs. Glover said.

HOSTESSES were Mrs. Harmon Howard of Walnut Creek, Mrs. W. W. Scott of Lafayette, Mrs. Calvin Hagstrom of Orinda, and Mrs. Donald Prieue of Danville.

Discussions on pertinent questions were handled by a panel of informed women.

They included reasons why some organizations are not in the Crusade; circumstances of supplementary drives; why fundraising costs can be kept at 9.6 per cent; extent of subsidy by UBAC, etc.

Co-hostesses for Walnut Creek were Mesdames Frank Young, Donald Sleeper, Robert O'Dell, John Selley.

FOR LAFAYETTE, Mrs. Frank Malley, Edward Pike, Lawton Shurtleff, and A. J. Ford.

Mental Health Specialists Need Special Training

Community mental health specialists will not only retain their original professional identity but will have this, augmented by special training and reorientation, Dr. Portia Bell Hume said.

She spoke during the annual dinner meeting of the Contra Costa Mental Health Association, a United Crusade Agency.

Dr. Hume said, "The work of community mental health specialists is customarily that of a one-to-one professional-patient relationship."

IT IS NOT the principal or at least the only mode of approach to the solution of individual and community mental health problems. We recognize that these specialists would not be equally trained, competent or active in all the content and skills encompassed by the above, but each would combine several of them. These specialists may or may not have had clinical training in a mental health specialty.

However, each should have some degree of orientation to the clinical aspects of mental disorders."

"Thus it is believed that community mental health specialists will retain their original professional identity, augmented by special training and reorientation in the community context," she said.

ANOTHER major function of the newly proposed center is to promote and to provide consultation to, strategically located field services that are, or could be, affiliated with academic centers for training purposes.

In some instances it would be advantageous for existing psychiatric residency training programs of community mental health services so that a resident in his third year might carry a caseload of patients but also a caseload of community services careful supervision," she added. Reverend Aron S. Gilmartin, minister of the Mt. Diablo Unitarian Church, is Association president.

Born in Boston, Rev. Gilmartin is a Harvard College graduate, and received his degree of social work and theology from the University of Chicago.

HE WAS the director of the West Coast Encampment for Citizenship at Berkeley in 1960.

He is also a board member of the Central Contra Costa Community Welfare Council; regional vice president of the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice; and formerly state chairman of Washington State Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Vice presidents are Ralph Harris of El Sobrante representing West Contra Costa, Harold Mutnick representing Central, and Verdun Trione representing East.

Miss Ethel Willmer of Walnut Creek is secretary; and William Reinhard of Richmond is treasurer.

Garden Art Show Is Scheduled

Two Walnut Creek residents are among the outstanding artists who will exhibit works at the Valley Art Center's June Show, according to the announcement made this week by Mrs. Tom Boothe of Lafayette, the center's exhibition chairman. The show will be held at the Rheem Estate on June 24 from 3 to 7 p.m.

Painters who will exhibit canvases include Harry Ford and James McCray of Walnut Creek; Lundy Siegfried, Louis Siegfried, Charles Gill, Richard McLean and Jason Schoener of Oakland; George Miyasaki, Katherine Barreau, Sonya Rapoport and Glenn A. Wessels of Berkeley; Earl Pierce of Albany; Alexander Nepote and Harry Krell, and Julius Wasserstein of San Francisco.

Sculptors to be represented are Robert Arneson, Martin Metal, Helen Mitchell and Mel Henderson, all Oakland residents; as well as Henri Marie-Rose of San Francisco, and Bella Feldman of Palo Alto.

The Garden Art Show will be enlivened with music and refreshments; tickets for the event may be obtained from Mrs. William Vogt, 772 Moraga Road in Lafayette.

Camp Fire Leaders Try Self-Analysis

In a unique "Operation Self-Analysis," the Bay Area's Camp Fire Girls Councils are seeking answers through a pilot study which may help other community service organizations as well as their own.

Steering committee member Mrs. Howard Eddy of Concord, said the 11 Bay Area Camp Fire Councils are conducting this survey for the first time in the organization's history.

An impartial committee made up of volunteers of a cross section of Bay Area citizens will review the information gathered make recommendations to Camp Fire and the community.

Survey findings will be available to all interested organizations, Mrs. Eddy remarked.

The purpose is to gather information about population changes and Camp Fire services in Contra Costa, Alameda, Marin, San Francisco, and San Mateo.

Broad question: How effectively is Camp Fire serving the Bay Area community? Are all sections adequately covered or is there a lack of service in some areas and possible duplication in others?

Is money contributed through the Crusade and from other sources being used to give the most help to the most girls?

How can Camp Fire best cope with population growth and shifts? What would be the soundest financial plan and budgeting process for the future?

Schools Dept. Sets Budget

Proposed budgets representing the county's share of support of the Contra Costa County School Department in 1962-63 have been approved by the County Board of Education.

Included in the proposed expenditure of $143,079 by the county superintendent of schools is $11,130 for a new position of building consultant to assist school districts with their construction plans.

The position, approved by the county administrator, was eliminated from the 1960-61 budget by the Board of Supervisors.

THE PROPOSED budget compares with estimated 1960-61 expenditures of $128,929, about one-sixth of the department's total operating cost is borne by the county and the remainder is met by the state.

For the County Board of Education itself, a budget of $6960 is proposed, down from $8990. The difference is due in part to the fact there will be no board election next year.

On the other hand the proposed $20,600 for the Contra Costa County

Committee on School District Organization—up from a $9500 estimate expenditure this year—includes $20,000 for an anticipated series of elections on the unification of school districts, as required by state law.

OTHER business recently transacted by the county board is as follows:

Educational Television — The board approved a $2500 expenditure to match funds to be provided by the San Ramon Valley Union High School District for a closed circuit television project.

Another $5000 will come from the National Defense Education Act.

The funds will be used to install a closed circuit system, develop curriculum materials in science, English and social studies and acquaint teachers with television teaching. The county office will also provide consultancy service.

LEGISLATION — Support of AB 2921 and letters to Sacramento so stating were approved. The bill amends previously introduced legislation (AB 161) empowering school districts to contract for services of an attorney in private practice to handle school district litigation.

AB 2921 limits this power to cases in which (1) there is a conflict of interest or (2) the district attorney's office is insufficiently staffed.

It adds the further condition that the County Board of Education shall be an appeal board if the school district and the district attorney are unable to agree on the matter of retaining control in private practice.

Gas Tax Money Goes to Cities

A total of $683,696 was allocated to Contra Costa County for the annual gas tax fund apportionment from the State of California, it was announced.

The 5/8 cent gas tax fund goes to the cities, and is earmarked for city streets.

Some 372 cities in the state received funds totaling more than $33 millions.

The 5/8 cent is a per-gallon rate taken out of the total gas tax paid by each highway user.

Walnut Creek received $27,346; Concord, $105,226; and the largest amount, $261,960, went to Richmond.

U.S. Money Will Come to Orinda

Congressman John F. Baldwin announced today that he has been informed by the Commissioner of Education of the United States that favorable action has been taken on the application of the Alacanes Union High School District for federal assistance for current expenditures pursuant to Public Law 874, which provides for financial assistance for schools in federally affected areas.

The commissioner of education has determined that the tentative entitlement for the Alacanes Union High School District for fiscal year 1961 will be $42,811. Of this sum $32,108 is being certified for immediate payment.

Educators, Reservists to U.S. Air Force Academy

The United States Air Force Academy, once called the "Taj Mahal of America," recently was host to a group of Contra Costa educators and Air Force Reservists.

The trip, highlighted by a late Rocky Mountain type blizzard, served to effectively present the Academy mission.

Making the trip that departed from Hamilton AFB were Alex Winchester, Alacanes High School; Mario Menessini, College Park High School; Dave Sweetman, Las Lomas High School; Bruce Handley, Del Valle High School.

MAJOR William Tuggle, Walnut Creek; Lt. Col. Rocky Rogers, Walnut Creek; Capt. R. Hamilton, Walnut Creek; Capt. Carol T. Coffey, Orinda; Capt. Hec Hancock, Walnut Creek; Jerry Bassett, Pittsburg, and Gordon McNulty, Lafayette.

Red carpet treatment was afforded the group, and an extensive tour of the entire academy was directed by Capt. Robert Koernig of the Protocol Division of the Registrar's Office.

Scheduled to take off for home the next day, the group was forced to remain a day longer when a Rocky Mountain blizzard grounded all planes.

THE SUDDEN change in weather caught some of the California group, particularly reservists, dressed in summer uniforms, somewhat unprepared.

"These young men, typical high school seniors just a short time ago, are among the elite of the nation. They provide an excellent example of dedication and determination."

Meeting Has Local Visitors

Three members of the Contra Costa County Heart Association participated in the California Heart Association annual meeting and staff conference recently at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim.

Dr. Hal Weatherbee, Alamo, chairman of the Health Education in Schools Committee, presided at a panel on the subject "School Health Programs for You—Health Education in Action."

Weatherbee is assistant to the superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Loyse Casebolt, executive director of the county Heart Association, led a panel discussion at a staff conference meeting.

Mrs. Harold Powell, Lafayette, a member of a Public Relations Panel, discussed "Heart Association and Public Opinion."

Teachers Learn About Health

A state college course in health education will be given this summer at Diablo Valley College. It will equip Contra Costa County teachers to pass along to their students convincing evidence of why and how they should cultivate "a sound mind in a sound body," say educators.

The course will range over the fields of mental health, consumer health, family life, control of disease, dental health, alcohol education and the use and misuse of drugs.

San Francisco State College, two county government departments and three medical and health associations are sponsors. The course will be given under the title of "Workshop in School Health Education: Role of the Teacher."

IT IS designed for teachers, nurses and administrators in grades kindergarten through high school.

Classes will be conducted daily August 7-18 from 8:15 a.m. to noon. Registration will begin at 7:45 a.m. on August 7 in the Diablo Valley College cafeteria.

Byron (Barney) Cross, consultant in health, Contra Costa County Schools, is chairman of a steering committee.

Assisting Cross are Dr. Frank Burke, director of educational services, Contra Costa County Schools; Lloyd Frost, director of health education, Contra Costa County Health Department, and two executive secretaries of health groups, Mrs. Loyse Casebolt, Contra Costa Heart Association, and Mrs. Edythe Tucker Connolly, Contra Costa Tuberculosis and Health Association.

OTHER sponsoring organizations are the Alameda-Contra Costa Medical Association and the American Cancer Society, Contra Costa branch.

Dr. Harold Cornacchia, associate professor of health education at the San Francisco College, will direct the workshop.

The staff has Dr. James Fikes, who holds a similar position at Fresno State College; Charles Trowbridge, coordinator of health and physical education, Stockton city schools, and Cross.

Among the visiting speakers will be Andrew Hanners, director of education, Council on Alcohol Problems; Mrs. Frances Prout, home economist; Dr. Zachary Stadt, dental health officer, Contra Costa County Health Department, and Dr. Ralph W. Weilerstein of the United States Food and Drug Administration.

Consultant Cross said that voluntary health and welfare agencies and private industry will exhibit and distribute materials which teachers may use in health education.

The course provides two units of college credit, applicable to the bachelor of education degree.

Here Are Film Reviews For Family Guidance

Following are the Film Estimate Board of National Organizations movie reviews, printed by The Sun as a service for you and your family. Abbreviations used are: A—adults; MY—mature young people; Y—youth people; F—family, and C—children unaccompanied by adults.

ALL HANDS ON DECK—A-MY-Y

In this entertaining musical farce a young lieutenant is left in charge of an LST docked off a California navy yard during the holidays.

ATLANTIS, THE LOST CONTINENT—A-MY

Combining science fiction, adventure and symbolism, this melodrama opens in ancient Greece when a young fisherman rescues a princess of Atlantis from the sea.

Demonstrations of gruesome cruelty are overemphasized in a generally mediocre film. The ingenuity of the special effects is the chief evidence that George Pal had a hand in its making.

THE GREEN HELMET—A-MY-Y

Big time car racing and what it does to the green-helmeted drivers and their families is told with a good deal of feeling in this British drama. Much of the interest lies in the scenic backgrounds and skillfully introduced news clips of actual races run on world-famous French, American and Italian courses.

THE FIERCEST HEART—A-MY

An adventure melodrama is loosely based on Stuart Cloete's novel dealing with the trek of the Boers in the 1830s from the English controlled Cape Colony to the Transvaal.

MISTY—F-C

A simple film story, simply told, has been made of the well-known children's book. The film is pleasant with wholesome family and community relations that underscore some homely truths.

OLE REX—F

About to move on to another job, an itinerant Texas oil driller wants his little son to give up a dog he has just adopted, but parting with the new friend, Ole Rex, is more than the lonely child can bear and dog and boy run away together.

OPERATION EICHMANN—A

This presentation of the career of Adolph Eichman intermingles fact with fictionalized sequences that seriously invalidate the fearful story.

PORTRAIT OF A MOBSTER—A

The life and times of Arthur Flegenheimer, alias Dutch Schultz, who developed into one of the most powerful gangster bosses in New York during the Prohibition era, are treated in semi-documentary style. There is no attempt to glorify the subject.

POSSE FROM HELL—A-MY

This western opens with violence as four escaped killers ride into a peaceful town, rob the bank, shoot down the marshal and several bystanders, and depart for the hills with a kidnapped girl.

THE RIGHT APPROACH—A

The right approach, according to the hero-heel of this social drama, is to use everyone he meets for his own ends. He is slick, arrogant and forever on the make. The general impression is unpleasant and tasteless.

RING OF FIRE—A-MY

Two young toughs with a swaggering girl accomplice are picked up by the state police after robbing a gas station in a little Oregon town. Performances are adequate, the direction is fast and the Oregon woods provide a splendid backdrop.

ROMANOFF AND JULIETT—A-MY-Y

As producer, director, author and star, Peter Ustinov brings his delightful stage-spook of international relations to the screen. The early Renaissance church and palazzos of a north Italian hill village provide romantically lovely settings for much of the clever comedy.

THE SECRET WAYS—A-MY

Cloak and dagger melodrama is brought up to date by being set in Budapest in 1960. An American adventurer is hired to get the leader of the underground anti-Communist movement in Hungary.

Vienna and Budapest furnish the well-photographed back-grounds.

STOP ME BEFORE I KILL—A

This English psychological thriller opens with an automobile smash-up at the outset of the honeymoon of a racing driver and his French bride.

TUNES OF GLORY—A-MY

A fine British drama develops from the personal conflict between the rough-and-ready colonel of a Highland regiment and the new officer who takes over his command at regimental headquarters in peacetime.

TWO LOVES—A

An American schoolteacher seeks escape from a broken romance by getting a position in a small country school in New Zealand.

THE YOUNG SAVAGES—A-MY

Gang warfare in the New York slums of Spanish Harlem and adjacent East Harlem is graphically shown in this intense drama of juvenile delinquency.

Moraga Minutes

Moraga Scouts Have Whirlwind of Activities

By YVONNE MAUZEY, DR 6-4083

It seems the scouts are busy this month, fly-ups, trips, parties and court of awards or just closing the year for summer vacation.

Girl Scout Troop 23 took a field trip to Frenchman's Creek at Half Moon Bay May 20. The girls left at 7 a.m., carried their lunch and spent the day. They left at the early hour to catch the tides where they could search the shoreline during low tide. The trip was a conducted tour to study marine life for the Girl Scout Salt Water Badge. Each girl had six pages of types of marine life to study.

Joan Latter's Troop 50 took a hike to Tilden, last Saturday, where they met a ranger who escorted them through the woods in quest of requirements for their Nature Badge, 2nd class.

MONDAY the troop will have a party for their mothers. This will be the girls last meeting and will include a Court of Awards for 2nd Class rank, and dancing for the 15 girls.

Faye Parker's Brownies had a tea for the mothers last Monday which included the investiture of their new member.

Monday Nancy Van der Burch is giving a luncheon party for the Brownies for their last meeting. The Brownies are slated to attend fly-ups and sing the Goodby Song to Troop 34 June 1.

Troop 34 went on a Memorial Day family picnic or weenie roast, with sack races, three-leg races, relays and a ball game. The day's trip to Redwood Canyon was planned by Ellen Herman and Jean Bates.

DID YOU KNOW Herb and Bertha Cunningham were in Hawaii for two weeks, going via Matsonia Line. Hope they had a good time. Herb's parents were visiting and taking care of the children while the Cunninghams were away.

LaVerne and Lloyd Torchio spent a week in Palm Springs relaxing in the beautiful sunshine, while their parents cared for home and children. Grandparents have come into their own.

The Diablo Valley Republican Assembly held its "Roman Holiday" at the Rheem Estate last week. Mayor George Christopher was present, along with several visiting officials of the Republican party and 400 guests.

Carl Van der Burch and Jean Bates had a dessert bridge for the Yosemite Guild of the John Muir Hospital Guild May 18.

There were bridge parties held in nine homes of the area. There are 12 guilds that form the auxiliary, each named after one of the John Muir Trails.

THESE GUILDS have raised $15,000 in two years towards a new hospital. Jean Bates is president of the auxiliary and is making plans for a big "Evening Under the Stars" to be held September 16 for 1000 people at the Gordon Ball Ranch in Alamo. Included will be a fashion show and dancing under the stars to the music of Del Courtney.

Have you been in to see the post office lately? It is being re-modeled and has been reclassified. Things are looking up. Congratulations Elinor.

Speaking of post offices, our rural route postwoman Eva Thunne hurt her back last week and was in the hospital for X-rays over the weekend. Come back soon Eva.

I HEAR Gloria Tice is in Merritt Hospital recovering from major surgery. Hope you are back with us soon Gloria, and feeling fine again.

I notice new pools going in, in the Orchard Dell area, and wonder if they know about the community pool now being completed. May be ready for swimming by the time you read this. The pool is just off Larch Avenue on Baits. Take a look, and call Bob DeJohn, president, for particulars.

Don't forget Fun Day at the Rheem Estate June 6. This may be your last chance to view the grounds as the property has been sold.

Be sure to attend, spend the day in the pool, playing bridge, learning to hula or watching a fashion show, or just eating and relaxing with your friends and neighbors.

Bar-Mitzvah At Temple Tonite

Thomas Sherwood, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Sherwood will be Bar-Mitzvah tonight at the Contra Costa Jewish Community Center, 3800 Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette, at the services which start at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi David Robins and Cantor Henri Goldberg assisted by the Center Mixed Choir will officiate. Shirley Moore will be at the organ.

After the services the parents of the confirmand will be hosts at a reception at the temple.

Feed Azaleas, Camellias and Rhododendrons

Feed azaleas, camellias and rhododendrons if it's been a month or six weeks since their last meal.

Shop for container grown roses in bloom. In your garden keep faded rose blooms cut off. Plant the dwarf dahlias for a quick show of color.

Feed potted and container grown fuschias and begonias with liquid fish fertilizer.

WHEN IT COMES to the right plants and materials for your garden, obviously the person to see is an expert. Sometimes, if you are fortunate, you can get a whole group of experts at one place. Such a group are these nurserymen from the Pleasant Hill Nursery, a member of the California Association of Nurserymen. Left to right are Chris Chrisman, Bell Gerke and Fred McAdams.

Mulching Saves Work For Long Dry Summer

Gardeners who have earned their green thumbs in other states are often caught napping by California's long, dry summer. They see them, but they can't really believe that so many cloudless days can stack themselves one on top of the other.

There's an excuse for such newcomers as these, but there's none at all for gardeners who have always hoed their rows in the Golden State. Yet, many a native Californian lets his garden dry out once too often every summer, and the result is not the lush landscape he should enjoy, but one in which choice plants barely survive.

THE SIMPLEST solution to this annual bout with drought is to follow the California Association of Nurserymen recommendation and mulch around plants and in flower beds. Not only will a good mulch conserve moisture in the soil, but it will discourage weeds. That alone would warrant its practice in many gardens.

The trouble with mulches is that most gardeners don't apply them heavily enough. On the theory that a little is better than too much, they often apply such a thin layer that it does little, if any, good.

When mulching around camellias or rhododendrons, for instance, the knowing gardener will layer two to three inches of wet peat moss. Compare that to any mulching you might have done last year. Such a layer of peat will reduce the amount of watering you have to do by considerably more than half. Just don't let the mulch dry out. Peat moss takes a long time to soak up again.

AROUND HIS roses, the mulch-wise gardener again will lay it on thick. A three-inch layer of steer manure, or one of the new commercial organic mulch products, is not at all out of line. Try it and see how happy your roses remain even in the hottest weather with less than the normal watering, and you'll have no weeds to worry about.

You should also mulch around other moisture loving shrubs such as azaleas, hydrangeas and hibiscus. Chrysanthemums, dahlias, all summer flowers can be mulched to their benefit. Once you've learned the trick, you'll find it's not only life saving for your plants, but labor saving for yourself.

FIVE DROPS CAN SAVE A LIFE!

Oakland's Jeanette Voss runs a bird hospital. In one respect birds are much like people. The water they drink must be unquestionably pure.

Your EBMUD water qualifies. It's constantly being watched, tested, filtered. In fact, EBMUD is the only 100% filtered metropolitan water system west of the Mississippi.

The result? Pure, safe water that far exceeds standards set by U.S. Department of Health. Water that people (and birds) like to drink.
